The term "floor area" shall not include any part or portion of a basement (for which purposes the term "basement" shall mean a portion of the dwelling at least 51% of which is below mean grade level). Neither shall the term "floor area" include any accessory buildings and structures, or unfinished attic floor space above the second story.
- E. Rear yard. There shall be a rear yard, the depth of which shall be not less than 30 feet, for all buildings other than buildings situated on corner lots. Notwithstanding any provision herein to the contrary, in measuring the rear yard setback of a waterfront lot, the rear lot line shall be considered to be the location of the sea wall, if any, on the lot, or the mean high water mark, whichever is further inland. [Amended 9-6-2000 by L.L. No. 5-2000]
- F. Side yards. All lots shall have two side yards, the depth of which shall not be less than 17 1/2 feet each, one on each side of the main building in the case of an interior lot and one opposite each front yard in the case of a corner lot. The aggregate width of the two side yards in the case of an interior lot shall be not less than 35% of the width of the lot. Notwithstanding any provision herein to the contrary, in measuring the side yard setback of a waterfront lot, the side lot line shall be considered to be the location of the sea wall, if any, on the lot, or the mean high water mark, whichever is further inland. [Amended 9-6-2000 by L.L. No. 5-2000]
- G. Front yard. There shall be a front yard, the depth of which shall not be less than 45 feet from the front property line, provided, however, that in the event a front property line is located within the right-of-way of a mapped street or road, the depth of the front yard shall be measured from the boundary line of the mapped street or road nearest to the building or structure, and not from the property line. [Amended 2-3-1988 by L.L. No. 4-1988; 2-7-2001 by L.L. No. 1-2001]

 - (1) For the purposes of this subsection, the term "impervious surface" shall mean and include any surface (other than earth, plantings or related plant ground covering) which releases rainfall as surface runoff during a large portion of a rainfall event. Rooftops, sidewalks, parking areas, patios, structures, and other similar facilities are considered impervious surfaces. Notwithstanding the foregoing, a patio, terrace or other area in a rear yard, used for sitting or standing, which does not extend closer than five feet to a lot line, and is not more than one foot in height above the surrounding ground, shall be considered "impervious surface."²
 - (2) The total impervious surface on a lot, including building area, shall not exceed 30% of the lot area.

All such shrubs shall be placed immediately adjacent to and no further from the fence than on the said owner's property line. The foregoing shall apply to all side lot lines and rear yard lot lines. Side lot line fencing shall run from the rear lot line fence, or in the absence of a rear lot fence, from the point where such rear lot line fence would be placed consistent with the foregoing, and extend toward the front of the lot no further than to the point on the side lot line which is exactly even with the rear corner of the residence, on each side. The yard area occupied by an accessory building or structure shall be included in computing the maximum percentage of the lot area which may be utilized for building.
- F. Unless otherwise provided in this chapter, accessory buildings and/or structures on corner lots 100 feet or less in depth shall be located as far as possible from the front property lines, while conforming to the above-mentioned provisions of this chapter.
- G. No accessory building or structure shall be erected within 25 feet of a building used for residence purposes on an adjoining lot.
